General Data Protection Regulation came into force in May 2018, and this policy has been reviewed in accordance with best practice as detailed in this legislation.

Aims:

- To adopt a whole school approach to literacy across the curriculum
- To create a reading culture in our school
- To foster a love of language and an appreciation of its power and role in our lives
- To enable all students to reach their potential in the key literacy skills of reading, writing, listening and speaking across all taught languages and subject areas
- To raise staff awareness of and participation in key literacy strategies
- To support and encourage staff in the development of literacy-conscious planning within subject areas
- To build on, resource and support the necessary structures in the school to ensure the success of the literacy plan, while identifying specific roles and responsibilities within these structures
- To emphasise and promote the importance of digital literacy across all subject areas.

In this policy, the term “parent” also refers to legal guardian.

Rationale

We believe that literacy is the key to improving learning and that poor levels of literacy impact negatively on a student’s ability to engage with their subjects, the world around them and on their perceptions of themselves as learners.

Literacy in the modern world is a multi-dimensional term and the desire to increase literacy levels does not simply apply to the accurate application of the mechanics of written language, but involves equipping our students with the skills required to engage with, comprehend and navigate through the modern world. The literacies involved are manifold and include such specific competencies as: functional literacy, academic literacy, digital literacy, emotional literacy and financial literacy. The unifying factor of these seemingly divergent demands is language. Language is our tool in understanding our subjects, our society, our technology, our relationships and ourselves. In equipping our students to become thoughtful and discerning users of language we equip them for the world.

We believe that the key to a successful literacy policy is cultural change. While structural, academic and pedagogical alterations are of value and of immediate importance, it is our belief that it is the long term reshaping of values among the entire school population that is integral to success. To this end we have resolved to develop and maintain a reading culture within our school. This culture will help further foster our students’ love of language and their appreciation of its power, while at every level in our school communicating in the strongest possible terms the simple message: words matter!

Definition of Literacy

Literacy includes the capacity to read, understand and critically appreciate various forms of communication including spoken language, printed text, broadcast media and digital media.

“Literacy is a bridge from misery to hope ... Acquiring literacy is an empowering process, enabling millions to enjoy access to knowledge and information which broadens horizons, increases opportunities and creates alternatives for building a better life.” (Kofi Annan)

Key Players

In CBS Secondary School Kilkenny five main partners are involved in the enhancement of literacy within the school. Their roles and responsibilities are detailed below.

- Management
- Non-language teachers
- Language teachers
- AEN team and SNAs
- Students and parents.

Role of Management

Management in CBS Kilkenny has ultimate responsibility for the implementation of all school policies. As an integral driver of literacy in the school, the role of management encompasses the following:

- Facilitate continuous professional development for staff within the limitations of timetabling and budgets. The training of key staff members to deliver internal in-service training to all staff members will be prioritised.
- Set aside financial resources to support literacy initiatives, e.g. in-service training for staff, funding for literacy resources etc.
- Support literacy within timetabling where practicable.
- Reiterate the commitment of the school to literacy at each available opportunity: staff meetings, Parent Council meetings, Parent Information evenings, Open Night and other student meetings. Use the school website and school app to support literacy initiatives in CBS Kilkenny.
- Request that the Board of Management ratifies the Literacy Policy and keep the Board informed of the progress of literacy initiatives under the Teaching & Learning item on the agenda.
- Support links with outside agencies which will underpin the Literacy Policy: Oide, Kilkenny City and County Library, Briary Gap National TY Drama Festival, Barnstorm Theatre Company, Watergate Theatre and National Strategy on Literacy and Numeracy.
- Literacy is a whole school responsibility and all students' needs must be catered for. School management will support a diverse range of methodologies to promote literacy in the school.
- Support student wellbeing by promoting literacy as a means of connecting students to their school, their friends, community and the wider world.

Role of Non-Language Teachers

Non-language teachers play an important role in integrating literacy into their lessons, raising awareness of the widespread presence and application of literacy concepts in our everyday lives.

The responsibilities of non-language teachers include the following:

- Ensure that literacy is included in subject planning
- Sharing of literacy resources within the department

Role of Language Teachers

Language teachers play a pivotal role in raising awareness of the widespread presence and application of literacy concepts in our everyday lives. The language departments recognise their role in promoting and advocating a positive approach to this policy.

In addition, the Language Subject Departments further promote a culture of literacy by:

- (a) Being aware of literacy techniques/processes/skills which overlap in other subject areas and by supporting non–language teachers in their objective of promoting literacy in their specific subject area.
- (b) Availing of and providing opportunities for professional development within the various language departments.
- (c) Being aware of the approaches to literacy being adopted by non–language teachers and to adopt and implement such approaches into language classes. To promote a culture of sharing between departments.
- (d) Promoting the value of achievement at both Higher, Ordinary and Common Level in state examinations.
- (e) Promoting literacy through many co-curricular activities, e.g. Literacy Week, Wellbeing Week, visual displays, Literacy Noticeboard, national quiz competitions, excursions and other subject themed weeks.
- (f) Liaise with the AEN department to effectively address students with specific difficulties around literacy.
- (g) Have a print rich environment in classrooms which displays both student and commercial literacy resources.

Role of the AEN Department

The AEN Department endeavours to ensure that every student leaving school has an understanding and appreciation of literacy in a broad context.

The AEN Department will arrange for the administration, correction and analysis of results of standardised testing in Literacy and Numeracy in September of First Year.

By analysing the results of standardised test results/transfer data/psychological reports etc., the AEN Team/Guidance Department will identify students in need of literacy support and facilitate the development of their literacy skills, in smaller classroom settings. The AEN Department prioritises students with a low percentile and low reading age. The AEN Department will place significant importance on the development of literacy skills when drafting these Student Support Files (SSF). The AEN Department will also set targets for these students in relation to improving literacy.

The AEN Department will share this information in a collaborative manner with subject teachers so that each teacher will be in an informed position to encourage and help students to develop their literacy levels.

Role of Students and Parents

Children with good literacy skills are more likely to:

- Stay in education longer
- Be in work as adults
- Earn more throughout their lives
- Be more articulate and creative
- Ask questions and better understand what they are learning.

Even if they find English and literacy difficult, parents can support their children using the following guidelines:

- Do not say things like ‘I can’t spell’ or ‘I hated English at school’... your son might start to think like that themselves...
- Do talk about literacy in everyday life
- Do praise your son for effort, rather than talent
- Do encourage your son to read and develop vocabulary.

In turn, each student has a responsibility to enhance his own literacy by:

- Being familiar with the literacy strategies outlined in their school diaries
- Following the above tips provided for parents
- Partaking fully in classwork, homework, fieldwork and project work to the best of his ability
- Fostering a love of reading in their own lives
- Adopting a positive attitude and willingness to learn.
